

Adrian Dodson Shaw, second from left, received the Outstanding Achievement Award. He is pictured here with Bruce Rudeforth from Buru Energy and Broome Sports Association committee members Glenn Medlend and Mike Doyle.

Broome Soccer Association was named Club of the Year. Committee member Rosie Portbury received the award from Councillor Warren Fryer.

Cable Beach Football Club president Jay Cassidy receives the Special Recognition Award from Ray White Broome's Clare Cowen and Broome Sport Association committee member Rachel Beadle.

Accolades for achievers

◀ FROM PAGE 32

Samisoni Savu won the Rising Sports Star Award, while Jada Glasson-Carr of Pearl Coast Gymnastics Club was named as the Coach/Official of the Year.

Shannon McAlpine scooped the Remote Community Award for his efforts at furthering sport in Beagle Bay on the Dampier Peninsula.

Broome Soccer Association lifted the Club of the Year award after another progressive year for the sport locally.

Broome Pistol Club president Charlie Kiewiet was the winner of the Volunteer of the Year award for his role in refurbishing the local shooting ranges.

The Service to Sport award was handed to Ric Cockman, who has been a pertinent member of the Broome Surf Lifesaving Club for 21 years.

Finally, West Kimberley Football League premiers Cable Beach Football Club landed the Special Recognition Award for their continued dominance locally.

BSA vice-president Mike Doyle said the evening was an ideal chance to laud the achievements of those involved in sport locally.

"The contribution made by

Samisoni Savu was the winner of the Rising Sports Star Award, presented by Trish Corver of Willie Creek Pearls.

Ric Cockman, right, won the Service to Sport award. He is presented with his accolade by Rob Aristei.

Jada Glasson-Carr is awarded the Coach/Official of the Year accolade by Kimberley Physiotherapy's Simon Dean.

sporting club volunteers in this town and in the remote communities is nothing short of amazing," he said.

"It's on nights like the Horizon Power Sports Awards that we're able to contemplate just how much has been achieved.

"This year the record 40 nominations gave us a clear indication as to how sport is impacting positively on the Shire of Broome.

"The Broome Sports Association appreciates the support of everyone involved in the evening and we look forward to building on this momentum in the years ahead. The future is looking very bright indeed."

Shannon McAlpine, centre, was presented with the Remote Community Award. He is pictured here with Elizabeth Hoyle from Buru Energy and Broome Sports Association committee member Glenn Medlend.